It is a crucial element of the London cultural scene. Music of all genres, standing comedy, tourism theatre, television recordings and many other types of performance appeared on the stage of the Apollo Eventim. The lines B to F in the circle also offer excellent views, from a high position that can reveal more of the stage. The Apollo Eventim has a capacity of 3341 seats. There are few sites in London as iconic as the Apollo Eventim, also known as Hammersmith Apollo. The front blocks of the circle (lines to a f) undoubtedly offer a better view than the rear lines of the stands, but are usually the same price. The capabilities of the section are 1417 tents and the circle of 1924. In the 2010s, AEG Live and Eventim became joint owners of Apollo. One of its defining characteristics was a Compton tube organ. This attractive art-deco building was designed by Robert Cromie and was first inaugurated as the Gaumont Palace in 1932, which also designed the Prince of Wales theatre. Use our interactive seat plan to view 286 seat reviews and 235 seat views photos. Since it was inaugurated in 1932, this milestone has received internationally recognizable acts such as the Beatles, U2, AC/DC, Blondie, Penn & Teller, Chris Rock and countless others. The premium sits and for M in the intermediate section of the stands great views that make this great place look surprisingly intimate. They invested in a significant reform under the direction of award-winning architect Foster Wilson and in 2013 the site reopened as EVENTIM APOLLO. For many spectacles, the prices are the same for all stalls of the Stalls, so the seats in central section are comparatively better than the seats in the leftst sections or right.
