Regular Updates: Any changes to route layouts are updated the moment we become aware of them. Roadworks, temporary road closures and changes in traffic patterns are reflected to ensure you are always driving the most current routes. On the day of your test you will need to bring your valid instruction permit, a vehicle in good working condition (with valid registration and insurance), and if you're under 18 a parent or legal guardian to accompany you. You also need to ensure all documents are originals or certified copies. Prior to the test, your vehicle will be inspected, so ensure that it is in good working condition with functioning brakes, lights, turn signals, and safety features. Has valid registration and current liability insurance (out-of-country insurance isn't acceptable). Is equipped with working seat belts for all occupants. Has air conditioning (June 1st through September 22nd after 12 o'clock). The practical test assesses your ability to handle various traffic situations: Starting and stopping the vehicle safely and smoothly. Accelerating and braking in a controlled manner. Making safe turns and signaling appropriately. Changing lanes safely with proper signaling. Maintaining a safe following distance. Controlling your speed as dictated by the road conditions. Parking, including parallel parking and parking on a hill. Backing up safely (while observing your surroundings). Navigating intersections whilst obeying traffic signals. Observing potential hazards. Points are assigned as follows... accumulating 21 points or more will result in a fail 1-point: Poor basic safety knowledge, such as locating the speedometer or demonstrating appropriate hand signals. 4-points: Errors such as not wearing a seatbelt, changing lanes erratically, or braking excessively. 10-points: Serious infractions like failing to fully stop at stop signs/lights, failing to give way to other road users, or speeding (5-9 MPH over the limit). Yes, you can use your backup camera, but it cannot be your primary focus. You cannot rely solely on the camera screen and will have to demonstrate good observational skills whilst reversing. Yes, Arizona has a Graduated Driver License (Class G) for drivers under 18. For the first 6 months, you are unable to drive between midnight and 5:00 a.m. unless accompanied by a parent or legal guardian. Exceptions to this include driving to/from a school-sponsored activity, a place of employment, a religious activity, or in the event of a family emergency. During this probationary period, you are unable to have more than one passenger under the age of 18 in the vehicle, unless they are your siblings, or you're accompanied by a parent or legal guardian. Accumulating 21 or more points due to numerous, repeated infractions. Committing a serious violation like speeding, or not stopping at red lights. Unsafe driving or lack of vehicle control. In the event you don't pass your practical test, try to do the following: Revisit the areas where you lost points, and try to improve in these areas. Practice, practice, practice... use the time you have between tests to further your confidence and skills. Re-book the test for as soon as possible. Only one road test per customer per day is allowed. The Motor Vehicle Division (MVD) oversees driver's license testing and vehicle services in Arizona. You can also take your road test at MVD offices or Authorized Third Party (ATP) providers, which are private entities approved by the MVD to offer services like driver's license testing, vehicle registration, and title transfers. By doing this you can often experience shorter waiting times and more convenient opening hours. The Test is in Two Parts Before you even get to the practical driving portion, you'll need to have passed a written test covering Arizona's road rules and traffic signs. It consists of 30 multiple-choice questions, and you'll need a score of at least 80% to pass. The Test Route is Now Longer Arizona recently updated its road test to make it more realistic, so instead of just driving around a small block, the route now takes about 15-20 minutes and covers five to eight miles. If You Fail - You Can Try Again Not everyone passes on their first attempt, and that's okay! If you don't pass, take time to practice the areas you struggled with before booking a retest. Arizona allows one road test per day, so you won't be able to retake it immediately. Driver Education and Practice Requirements If you're under 18, you are required to complete 30 hours of supervised driving practice, including at least 10 hours at night, before you can take your road test. As an alternative, if you complete a state-approved driver education program, you're only required to complete 20 hours of supervised driving practice (6 hours at night). Instruction Permit Validity Your learner's permit is valid for 12 months from the date issued. If it expires before you obtain your driver's license, you'll need to renew it by passing the written test again. Arizona's 'Left Lane' Law The left lane on multi-lane highways is used primarily for passing other drivers. You are required to travel faster than traffic in the right lane, and should return to the right lane as soon as safely possible. The flex lanes safety systems are being installed and tested, paving on the 15 miles of widening between Anthem Way and Black Canyon City is complete, and major milestones are in sight. Check out this episode of On the Road with ADOT to hear more about progress on the I-17 improvement project. Listen to the full episode: Spotify: Apple Podcasts: We joined other state agencies recently at an annual state of Arizona veteran hiring event. Our Human Resources team collaborated with the Administrative Services Division to meet with more than 250 candidates to discuss job opportunities at ADOT. The hiring event is part of the AZ Hires Vets! initiative to increase the number of veterans employed by state agencies. "Year over year, this event grows in participation," Human Resources Operation Manager Zachariah Cortez said. "ADOT is beyond honored to be a part of this very important initiative and event." For more information about the AZ Hires Vets! program, visit . Join us for a virtual public meeting on the upcoming runway project at Grand Canyon National Airport, which is owned and operated by ADOT. At the virtual meeting, scheduled for 10 a.m. Thursday, May 29, the project team will cover details, including upcoming nightly closures and the 28-day airport closure, from June 15-July 14, and answer your questions. Register for the meeting and find more information about the project: ADOT's Tentative Five-Year Transportation Facilities Construction Program, the agency's recommended $12.7 billion plan for design and construction projects statewide, is now available for public comment through May 23. The Tentative Five Year Program and a link to the online comment form is available at . The REAL ID deadline is here. Beginning May 7, you'll need a federal compliant credential to get past TSA for domestic flights. That could be a passport or the Arizona Travel ID, which is also a driver license. Here, Bill Lamoreaux answers some of the most common Travel ID questions we're asked. There's no rush to get your Travel ID. Just visit an MVD office or Authorized Third Party provider at least two weeks before you plan to fly. How to get your Arizona Travel ID: ADOT's Office of Inspector General, part of our Enforcement and Compliance Division, investigates fraud in vehicle sales, including when it's committed by unlicensed dealers. In this episode of the On the Road With ADOT podcast, we explain this and also how ADOT detectives investigate fraud involving driver licenses, VIN inspections and licensed vehicle dealerships. Spend a few minutes listening and you'll be up to speed on how ADOT's Fraud Hotline is here to help you and how you can protect yourself from fraud. Listen to the full episode: Spotify: Apple Podcasts: During National Work Zone Awareness Week, we're remembering our colleagues and coworkers who lost their lives while building, maintaining and improving Arizona's highway system. Outside ADOT's Administration Building this week, a presentation of traffic cones represented the men and women who lost their lives while working for ADOT — one traffic cone for each person that died. The sundial memorial at the Sunset Point Rest Area off Interstate 17 serves as a permanent monument for ADOT employees who have died while serving the state of Arizona. On the gnomon (the blade that stands vertically to create the shadow) is inscribed the words, "As the sun sets over our fallen companions, may they always be remembered." While not all of the people whose names are engraved on the memorial died in work zone incidents, even one is too many. This week is an important reminder that lives are on the line when we get behind the wheel and the men and women who build and improve Arizona's highway system face risks when they're working near traffic. Help keep them, and yourselves, safe by slowing down, obeying the reduced speed limit, and staying alert in work zones. Not a bad Earth Day's work. Thanks to the early-morning effort from 31 volunteers, ADOT right of way along the Salt River Bed is free of 49 bags filled of litter, along with three electric scooters, several shopping carts and more, from Tuesday morning's special Adopt a Highway Earth Day event along Loop 202 in Tempe. This event, also held to mark National Volunteer Week, was a chance to showcase the value ADOT Adopt a Highway volunteers bring to state highways throughout the year. In 2024 alone, these volunteers removed 10,400 bags of litter while contributing 17,891 hours of labor worth $538,000. Want to feel good, get outside and make your community a better place?
