This list of actions can be saved in AUTOCT file format and can be reused. Features: Free macro recorder User friendly interface Ease of installation Keyboard and mouse actions can be recorded and automated Actions can be executed in a queue by hotkeys Press "F9" to run; press "F10" to stop The actions can be rearranged, edited and delayed The list can be saved as an AUTOCT file. Whats new in Version 2.0 1. Now it's extremely easy to change your hotkeys! 2. Use of AUTOCT file for automation. Auto clicker for mac is a piece of software that simulates real human clicks. Commonly, gamers leverage these auto clicking programs to avoid the cumbersome and tiring tasks in the game. Also, many also use the software to automate clicks on web pages. It is common knowledge that gamers mostly use windows operating system, but the trend is slowly shifting. Reportedly there are over a hundred million active users of the Mac operating system. Even though not many of those users might be gamers, there is increasing demand for auto clicker for macOS. The reason for the rise in demand is due to the multi-purpose use of these auto clicking applications. Many of these programs not only stimulate mouse tapping but also automate several functions on the computer. Before we discuss the best in market auto clickers for Mac, let us understand how a gamer's life could be without such automated software. Auto clicking apps are ethical to a certain level, but for games played on a professional stage, this software is barred. One can use these programs for fun and personal use. Most professional gamers that play clicking games use mouse slamming techniques to increase clicking speed instead of software. Some of these techniques include jitter clicking, butterfly clicking and drag clicking. Among them, jitter and butterfly are the most common among gamers. These methods are not easy to master and requires players to commit time and effort. The downside of these methods is that players must not constantly use it to avoid causing any physical injuries. Various reports suggest that using any of these techniques induce medical complications in the long run. Therefore, it is best to use these auto clickers for gamers that play Minecraft, Farmville and similar games. Uses of Auto Clicker for Mac As mentioned above that in comparison, gamers mostly play on Windows operating system. However, there are several web-based clicking games that many players take it seriously. As such, many use these auto clickers to score better in those games. The method is unethical and unfair to other players. As such, gamers must avoid the use for such purposes. However, one can use it to try it for fun. The best part of these auto clicker software is that it saves time. Not only they automate clicks but are also programmed to ease several cumbersome and repetitive tasks such as organising files. It will save both time and energy. Apart from gaming, one can use this software on websites where they are required to click constantly. The software is best for gamers as they are more efficient and accurate. Some of the software's do more than automate mouse taps. Not all but some are designed to record macros and use it for other purposes to simplify daily tasks. However, the use of the software for fraudulent activity is punishable by law. Best Auto Clickers for Mac Auto clicker programs are best for gamers that expend all their energy and effort to perform repetitive clicks in a game. Auto clicking applications are an option for players that want to avoid the physical pain of and instead sit and relax to see the magic done by itself. Cons It can be daunting to use at first. 4. Auto-Clicker Auto-Clicker is one of the only mouse auto clicking software that supports both Mac and Windows. As the name suggests, the program clicks the mouse so that one can relax their fingers. It is a macro-based clicking application that allows users to record multiple clicks and then replay it anytime. Auto-Clicker Image Beyond gaming, the software can come in handy on web pages as users can set the macro where they like the mouse to click. For example, during online sales, many websites set a particular location on the page for the user to click to gain the benefit. In most cases, it is first to come first serve, and therefore, such an auto mouse clicker can be handy against manual clicks from others. The software is essential and does not come with advanced features. However, the tasks it can do it does it smoothly. One of the highlights is that it records both mouse click and keystrokes. As it is a macro-based program, one can play the recording unlimited times. More so, Auto-Clicker is useful for cumbersome and tedious tasks such as organizing files on the computer. The user has to record the operation once, and the software will repeat the tasks any number of times. One can sit back, relax and have their hands free to do other jobs. Another significant advantage is that it can simultaneously record clicks on multiple locations on the screen. Also, users can set the delay between clicks. More interestingly, the mouse can record clicks of more than one mouse. Thus, it is one of the best auto clicking software for gamers. Pros It supports mouses presses on multiple locations. Auto-Clicker is easy to use. Users can change IP addresses to deceive click counters. Cons It is not a freeware. Pros It comes with a simple user interface and is thus best suited for both first-time and advanced users. Users can customize hotkeys The software is lightweight and occupies less disk space. It is a trusted piece of software. Another upside is that it is a freeware. Cons It does include any advanced features than its competitors. Above we have featured the best five mouse auto clicking software for Mac. It is evident that there are not many options for Mac, mainly freeware. However, our list provides the best free and paid programs available in the market that one can rely on. In comparison, the Windows operating system has tons of free and paid auto clickers. Windows users have the liberty to choose between the best of best. But for Mac, there is a limitation as there are fewer gamers that use the Mac operating system. Users will find other applications online that do the same task, but we have only listed the trusted and best in the market. ClickNoMo is an excellent and trusted software, but the only reason it did not find a spot on our list is that it cost $30. It does the same job as its counterparts and therefore, is not worth the price. Generally, the primary use of these auto clickers is to automate mouse clicks, but one can always leverage them for other purposes. Users must give a try to any of the software mentioned above a try, if not work then for fun. It is always entertaining to see when automation works. easy touch auto clicker. easy to use auto clicker. easy to use auto clicker for mac. easy task auto clicker. easy auto clicker 2.0. easy auto clicker mac. easy auto clicker for roblox. easy auto clicker mobile
