LEGO – Games – 2009 3842 > 3844. Ramses Mummy (8)Blue ExplorerYellow ExplorerOrange ExplorerRed Explorer €29.99 $39.99 3843 Ramses Pyramid is a 2009 LEGO Games set. In it, players begin by traveling around the base of the central pyramid, gathering crystals that will help them to climb to the top and defeat Ramses the mummy king, whose army of mummies will try to push the players back. The pyramid is built with removable layers that can be lifted and rotated during the game, while the interior, which plays no part in the game, is decorated with golden objects. Ramses Pyramid currently holds the record for including the highest number of microfigures, with thirteen. Ramses Pyramid was designed by the noted board game creator Reiner Knizia, and features his name prominently on the cover. It won the "Toy Innovation 2009" award in the category "Games + Action" and has spawned a sequel, 3855 Ramses Return, while the human explorers later reappeared in 3849 Orient Bazaar.
